

People Smart

Here are some ideas to try out at home if your child has been identified as having a strength in the area of People Smart. These activities will encourage this smart while developing other areas of intelligence as well.

- Volunteer with a group of neighbors to clean up a playground or plant flowers in a park in your town. (People/Nature)
- Organize playdates with a baking activity. Have the children take turns measuring the ingredients. (People/Math)
- Organize a block party and plan physical activities for the children, such as hop scotch and relay races. (People/Body)
- Get the family together to build a birdhouse; share the tasks of measuring, hammering and decorating. (People/Spatial)
- Take a group hiking with a scavenger hunt list. Have the children keep a checklist of the items they find. (People/Self)
- Play an age appropriate board game that includes reading simple words. (People/Word)
- Go to your library and get involved in the music programs. Participate with your child by singing and playing the instruments. (People/Music)
